

MMTC Access to Opportunity Conference

Technology 2019-10-20 21:32:50

Washington, DC - MMTC invites you to attend our inaugural Access to Opportunity Conference on Thursday, October 31st, from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Hogan Lovells Conference Center, 555 13th Street NW, Washington DC. Our theme, "Access to Opportunity," reflects MMTC's pivotal role as a convenor and a connector that educates and trains diverse communities on law, policy, and access to capital, jobs, and other opportunities available to them in an increasingly digital economy.

At this conference, experts from government, industry, and NGOs discuss the top policy issues before the FCC, FTC, congress, and the courts on issues such as net neutrality, privacy, legacy media and over-the-top, diverse content creation, big data and antitrust, the future of work and Registered Apprenticeship, algorithmic bias, and other major media, telecom, and tech policy issues as they relate to communities and other underrepresented groups.

Confirmed speakers to date include:

Hon. Brendan Carr, FCC Commissioner Hon. Geoffrey Starks, FCC Commissioner Hon. Noah Phillips, FTC Commissioner Hon. Richard Wiley, Former FCC Chairman Hon.
