

HACR Announces Annual Symposium Luncheon Keynote Speakers

Business 2017-04-25 11:57:12

Washington, DC – Today, the Hispanic Association on Corporate Responsibility (HACR) is proud to announce that Mary Barra, Chairman and CEO of General Motors Co. and the Honorable Henry Cisneros, Executive Chairman of CityView, will be the luncheon keynote speakers at the 25th Annual HACR Symposium: The Power of Hispanic Inclusion[™] taking place on May 1 and May 2, respectively at the Westin Book Cadillac in Detroit.

“It is a great honor to have Mary Barra and Henry Cisneros address our Symposium attendees,” said Cid Wilson, HACR President & CEO. “Ms. Barra is among the most influential executive leaders in the world, who also shattered the glass ceiling by becoming the first woman in history to lead a major automotive company. Mr. Cisneros, former San Antonio mayor and former HUD Secretary, is a pioneering civic and business leader who has leveraged his executive experiences in government and the corporate sphere to bring about numerous accomplishments in the Hispanic community.”

The Annual HACR Symposium: The Power of Hispanic Inclusion[™] brings together some of the nation’s most influential Hispanic leaders, government officials, and corporate executives to discuss and identify effective strategies and models for achieving greater inclusion and participation in the areas of Employment, Procurement, Philanthropy, and Governance.

Barra and Cisneros will be among the dozens of speakers and panelist confirmed for the Annual HACR Symposium, who will share their experience and expertise on a range of topics including the state of Hispanics in the U.S., career advancement, the business impact of diversity and inclusion, employee resource group best practices, key initiatives engaging the Hispanic consumer market, and more.
