Washington, D.C. -- The special stamp of essential women's issues, and the forms of an accompanying history, mark Dialogue on Diversity's twenty fourth yearly Public Policy Forum, Driftwood or Dynamic, set for April 25th at the newest branch of the Busboys and Poets restaurant and bookshop group, located at 450 K Street, N.W. Forum proceedings get underway with 9:30 a.m. registration, and presentations on women's entrepreneurship by Ana Harvey, former SBA Assistant Administrator for Women's Business Ownership and subsequently, in another four-year stint, head of the D.C. Office of Small and Local Business Development. Cristina Antelo next comes to the lectern with an account of her meteoric career in Wall Street and as a civic affairs publicist, and now at the helm of her new, hard-charging Ferox Strategies, an elite Washington-based business counseling firm.
