

A Conversation with David Gergen

Education 2020-10-05 18:32:27

Washington, DC –Our country's social landscape is rapidly changing, making the need for principled and socially conscious leadership greater than ever. For the Latino/a/x community, there is a renewed sense of urgency to educate and empower our students and young professionals and equip them to be the changemakers our society needs.

To discuss how leadership development is evolving in higher education, public policy, and beyond, CHCI is proud to partner with the Hispanic Association of Colleges & Universities (HACU) to present this virtual panel discussion with David Gergen, former White House senior advisor and Professor of Public Service at Harvard Kennedy School.

Ensure your top priorities are answered by submitting your questions during registration.

Panelist for this event include:

Deborah A. Santiago (Moderator) President & CEO – Excellence in Education

Marco A. Davis – President & CEO – Congressional Hispanic Caucus Institute (CHCI)

Antonio R. Flores, PhD – President & CEO – Hispanic Association of Colleges & Universities (HACU)
